

SSCS Restart Strategy – Colored Bracelets

Updated July 27, 2021

Rational

As part of Sea to Sky Community Services Restart Plan, a coloured bracelet strategy will be utilized to support staff in communicating their preferences and comfort zones with physical contact as restrictions from the Covid-19 Pandemic ease.

Strategy

1. Order coloured bracelets (see information below) – Krista
2. Develop internal messaging for staff and posters for sites – Krista (colour coding) and Erin (agency messaging and posters)
3. Management will communicate the bracelet strategy with staff – Erin
4. Distribute bracelets to staff

Colour Coding

Green – I am comfortable within 2 meters of others and resuming pre-pandemic physical contact.

Yellow – I am continuing to practice physical distancing and limiting physical contact.

Red – I am continuing to practice physical distancing and would prefer if you wore a mask and sanitized before working in close proximity to me.

Considerations

- It is important not to connect colour coding with vaccination status as, at this time, staff are not required to share that information with their employer
- It is important to empower staff to share their preferences with their colleagues and clients
- Clearly communicate that while staff can share their preferences for others to wear a mask (for example) we cannot enforce staff or clients to wear masks if it is not a current agency policy
- Continue to promote current Public Health Orders (example, it is recommended that those over the age of 12 who are unvaccinated wear a mask)
- Do not assume that because someone is not wearing a mask that they are vaccinated

Cost

Individual pricing on a printed silicone bracelet is $0.57 – $1.22.
